

The Society for Conservation GIS

Please consider becoming an official Sponsor of the 2022 Society for Conservation GIS (SCGIS) Virtual Conference!

The Society for Conservation GIS (SCGIS), the premier international organization focused on the nexus of environmental conservation and GIS, is excited to host its 25th SCGIS Annual Conference (virtual) July 6th - 8th, 2022!

The SCGIS Annual Conference is unique in that it is the only such opportunity to gather conservation GIS practitioners from around the world for professional development in conservation GIS. The conference, which is held annually, gathers together many of the world's top conservation GIS professionals working across public and private sectors and academia to share best practices, receive training, and engage in professional networking. This year marks our 25th anniversary and we are very excited to celebrate it with members of the conservation GIS community!

As a 100% volunteer-led 501(c)3 non-profit organization, SCGIS depends heavily upon our donors to support our programming. We welcome sponsorship donations according to the tiers listed below. Your organization's logo will be featured as a conference sponsor in our virtual conference branding materials, online conference agenda, virtual session opening slides, and we will thank your organization publicly during our conference plenary. We will also include each sponsoring organization's logo in our 2022-2023 Annual Report.
